SECURITY COUNCIL DEBATES SW AFRICAN SENTENCES

South Africa's recent sentencing of 33 South West Africans to prison sentences ranging from five years to life for alleged terrorism was denounced in Security Council meetings held at UN Headquarters on Friday and Monday.

Representatives from 18 countries stressed that the penalties imposed earlier this month in Pretoria were in defiance of earlier appeals of the Council and the UN General Assembly that the trials be halted and the accused freed. Although the censure of South Africa was unanimous, agreement however, was not yet evident on what the Council should do to get the prisoners freed.

In January, the Council unanimously requested South Africa to end the trial, initiated last summer, and let the defendants return home. The Council's central theme was that South Africa had no right to try the South West Africans since the Assembly had ended its League of Nations Mandate over the Territory late in 1966. However, the sentencing proceeded despite the appeal of the Council as well as an earlier one from the Assembly. Over the years, South Africa has shuffed as illegal all efforts by the UN to assert its authority in South West Africa.

Among the delegates who addressed the Council during its

UN Body Urges Release of South West Africans

THE UN Commission on Human Rights last week expressed deep indignation at the sentencing of South West Africans under South African law which it said was rejected by the whole international community as being contrary to the principles of the UN Charter and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

In a consensus adopted last Friday, the Commission called upon the Government of South Africa to immediately release the South West Africans, and appealed to all States and international organisations to use their influence with South Africa to this end.

The UN Secretary-General was asked by the Commission to bring the consensus to the attention of the South African Government and to report back on measures taken by South Africa in the course of the Commission's current session being held at UN Headquarters in New York.

Middle - East Crisis

U THANT CONCERNED OVER ISRAEL - JORDAN FIGHTING

United Nations Secretary-General, U Thant, last week expressed his concern with the deteriorating situation on the Israel-Jordan border reflected in press reports of renewed and serious outbreaks of hostilities there.

The United Nations has received no direct reports on the recent fighting in view of the fact that it has no UN observers on the Israel-Jordan sector such as it has on the Israel-Syrian and the Israel-United Arab Republic sectors. In the past, U Thant has suggested that it would be advantageous to have the Israel-Jordan sector observed by the UN Truce Supervisory Organisation.

Israel and Jordan have accused each other of stepping up military activity across the cease-fire line.

Israel said Jordan launched a number of assaults on Israeli villages last week causing severe damage to houses and farm installations, and that her aircraft had reacted in self-defense.

Jordan said Israel had deliberately opened a shelling and bombing assault on Jordanian villages and refugee camps on the East Bank, with the resulting casualties numbering at least 16 civilians and seven soldiers killed, and 32 civilians and 27 soldiers seriously injured.

Jordan also charged that Israeli authorities were stepping up their campaign of expulsion, with 84 Jordanian citizens being expelled last week from the West Bank.

SECRETARY-GENERAL TO MEET PRES. JOHNSON

U Thant, UN Secretary-General, returned to New York last Thursday following a week of visits to New Delhi, Moscow, London and Paris.

Viet-Nam was the main subject of his talks with government leaders in these capitals, and U Thant also had occasion to meet with representatives of the Democratic Republic of Viet-Nam.

The Middle East situation was also touched upon in the course of the Secretary-General's meetings with Indian, Soviet, British and French leaders.

Upon his return to New York U Thant met with Ambassador Arthur Goldberg of the United States at the latter's request. On Saturday it was announced that the Secretary-General would meet with President Johnson in Washington today, Wednesday, 21 February.

The Secretary-General had originally planned to return to New York following his talks in London Tuesday of last week, but he extended his trip to include a visit to Paris, where he met with President De Gaulle, as well as with the Delegate-General of the Democratic Republic of Viet-Nam.

UN - backed Rocket Centre in India

Mrs. Indira Gandhi, Prime Minister of India, last week dedicated the international rocket launching facilities at Thumba, India. The centre is sponsored by the United Nations.

More than 100 scientists from 12 countries were present at the dedication ceremony. The site offers facilities for scientific research on ionosphere and meteorology problems.

På gentagne opfordringer viser vi her DANCON's "fodboldlands-hold" under ledelse af OFR(S) E.C. Plovdrup og PRLT(S) O.T. Christensen. Den største bedrift, som holdet indtil nu har udført, var, da det onsdag den 7. februar stillede op mod det cypriotiske landshold, som nærmest "legede" sig til en sejr på 6 - 0. Men trods nederlaget kæmpede danskerne bravt hele kampen.

HAR DE SET...? SELI MIYE MOSKÉEN

Selimiye Moské, tidligere kaldt St. Sophia, blev bygget omkring år 1200 e.K. som katedral, hvor bl.a. Cyperns konger blev kronet. Den er oprindelig bygget i fransk gotisk stil og var særdeles rigt udsmykket. Da tyrkerne erobrede øen, forsvandt udsmykningen, og man byggede yderligere de to minareter, som kan ses idag. Indvendig er der stadig seværdige ting at se, og da det kun koster 50 mils i entré, er besøget anbefalingsværdigt.

Husk at stille skoene, inden De går ind!!!

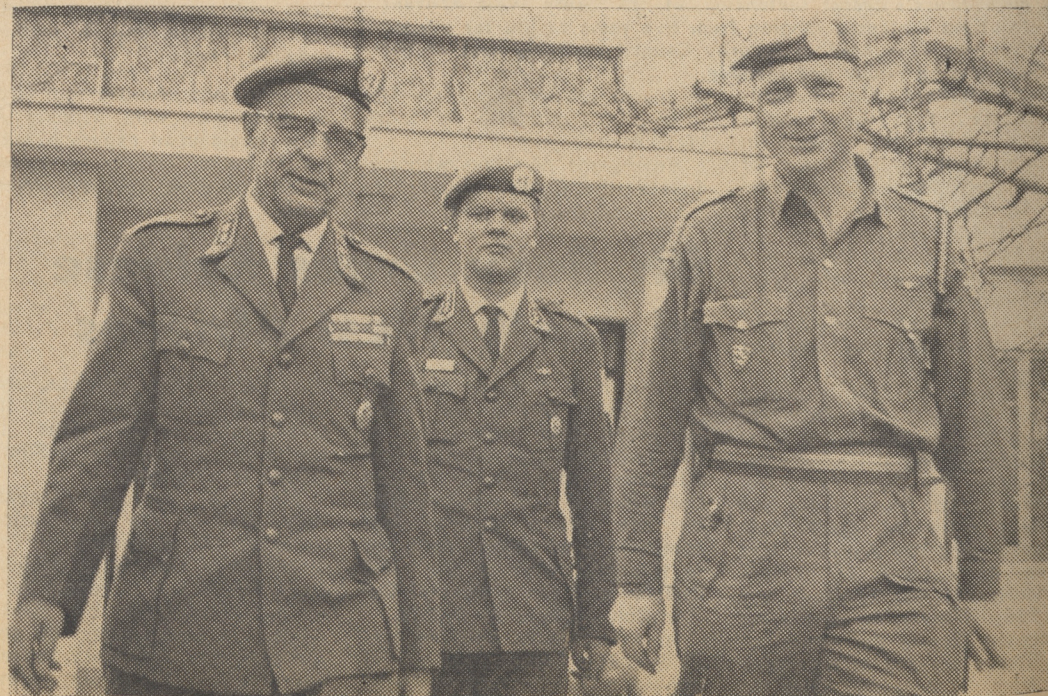

DANCON - NYT

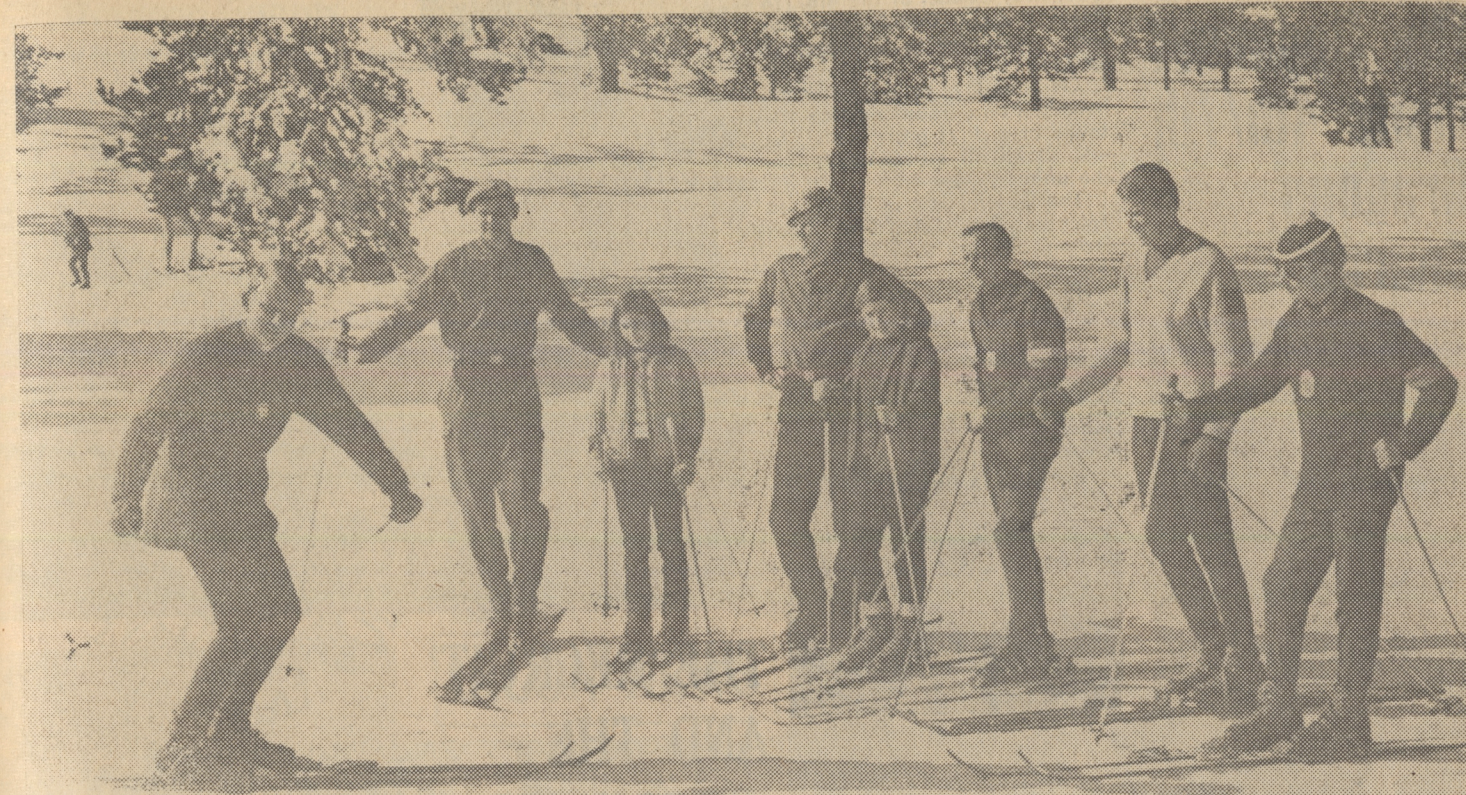

Det må bestemt være Sophia Loren, som KS J. Poulsen står og venter på med alle de "skud", han er parat til at fyre af, - men hun udeblev, og i stedet var han så heldig, at general A. Martola og MAJ K.L. Hansen var på besøg på "Den grønne Linie", hvorved han alligevel fik brug for sine kameraer.

MED SORG

må vi erkende, at The Blue Beret's konkurrence i nr. 42 desværre har været for svær for personellet ved DANCON, da vi i modsætning til forrige konkurrence overhovedet ikke har modtaget nogle løsninger. Gevinsten tilfalder ubeskåret pressetjenesten.

DET HANDLAR OM SNÖ....

Kommenderingar till fredstjänst i FN:s blå basker brukar för oss svenskar mestadels innebära sex månaders tjänstgöring under brännande sol långt borta från vårt hemlands nordiska klimat. Men Cypern är anorlunda - det har säkert de flesta av oss hunnit konstatera vid det här laget. Cypern är inte bara ön i solen med det blånande Medelhavet runt omkring - Cypern kan också bjuda den hugade på sådana exklusiviteter, på samma dag om så önskas, som Tylösand och Storlien, varmed skall förstas badliv på soldränkta sandstränder och skidliv på snötäckta bergsvidder.

Den snö vi tar om återfinns i engelska utförsåknings-uttryck. De fem var efter omsorgsfull gallring sergeant Nils Andersson, Särö, furir Claes Arrhen, Västerås, båda på 3. komp, furir Erik-Anders Nijä, Rensjön, furir Sven Björk-hed, Vittangi, på 1. komp, samt FN-soldat Matts Björke, Stora Tuna, på STR-komp. Efter den gemensamma, vecko-långa introduktionen i de engelska specialuttrycken för plogsväng och dalskida bland många andra term-er trädde de svenska instruktörerna i tjänst i de brittiska Cypern-styrkornas Winter Warfare Training Centre. Det framgick därvid att inte minst Matts Björke var en stor tillgång i sammanhanget. Hans sejour i Troodos skulle egentligen ha utöpt den 9 februari men han fick sin tjänstgöring utsträckt till den 10 mars. Det skedde genom den cypriotiske undervisningsministerns ingripande - denne höge (Forts på sid 8)

På tefat i Troodos

På 3. komp nere i Larnaca händer de mest förvånansvärda ting, inte minst genom kapten Ulf Gyllenswärd's ingripande. Högst densamme kallade härom veckoändan till kompanimästerskap i tefatsåkning, vilket naturnödvändigt måste äga rum i Troodos.

Tefatsåkning är nu en gång fortfarande en exklusiv alpin gren, som inte undgick att väcka vinterturisternas i Troodos intresse. Mästerskapet avgjordes häromsöndagen, och uppgiften var att tillsammans med sitt tefat transportera sig 80 meter rätt nerför en av de snöklädda sluttningar, på vilka Troodos är så rikt. Fanfar i trumpet blåstes i startögonblicket av kapten Gyllenswärd iförd FN:s blå hjälm, vilket inte hindrade Leif Abrahamsson från Kil att gå in på bästa tiden eller 9,4 sekunder, en olympisk bedrift.

Colonel of The Regiment Visits 4th/7th Dragoon Guards

On Friday, Major-General J. A. d'Avigdor Goldsmid, CB, OBE, MC, Colonel of the 4th/7th Royal Dragoon Guards, commenced a short visit to 'B' Squadron at Zyyi.

On Saturday, he inspected the Squadron on parade and took the salute at a drive past. Later, he was shown all aspects of life in the unit.

The General is seen talking to Troopers Bob Ditchburn, from Seaton, and Ian Bray from Huddersfield.

Maj Gen d'Avigdor Goldsmid, CB, OBE, MC, left on Sunday to return to the UK.

Some-one is obviously coming though loud and clear on this set at Mavrolia Lence-Corporal Patrick Mahoney of the Royal Green Jackets from Oxford is having to hold the receiver at a distance. Perhaps it is a word about a piece of Turkish delight or is he just "a-muazzin" himself?

'BOWSER' Brothers

Having found brothers serving together in Zyyi and Limesol, another pair has been found in the HQ area of UNFICYP, serving with 8 Squadron, RCT.

They are the Finn brothers — Trevor (left) and Len from West Ham, London, — who have served in the same unit only since last November, when the Squadron was preparing for its tour in Cyprus.

Trevor is a boxer and was the Royal Corps of Transport (previously RASC) middle-weight champion of BAOR in 1964/65. Len is a keen skier and was placed third in the Army Championships held in Germany last year. Both are to be seen on the football field whenever there is a game available.

Together they drive the bowsters supplying petrol to the UNFICYP contingents and average over one hundred miles per day on their deliveries.

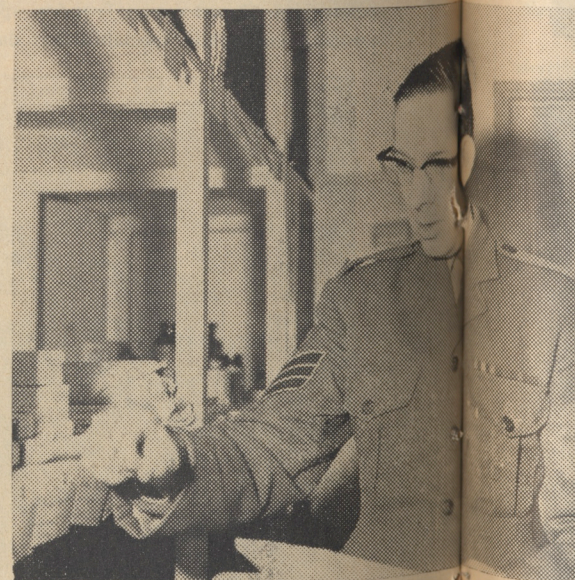

THE 'RECRUIT' AND THE 'RECRUITER'

Serving together with 'B' Squadron, 4th/7th Royal Dragoon Guards at Zyyi, is the 'Recruiter' and the 'Recruited'.

Staff Sergeant Fred Bones, Troop Commander of 1 Troop is pictured here with Trooper Stephen Yeomans who he recruited into the Army while serving at the Army Recruiting Office, York, in January, 1966.

After initial training Tpr Yeomans joined the Squadron in Northern Ireland, but did not meet his 'Recruiter' again until May 1967 when Ssgt Bones rejoined the Squadron. Since then Stephen Yeomans has been the driver of his Troop Commander's vehicle. No doubt continuing to receive good advice.

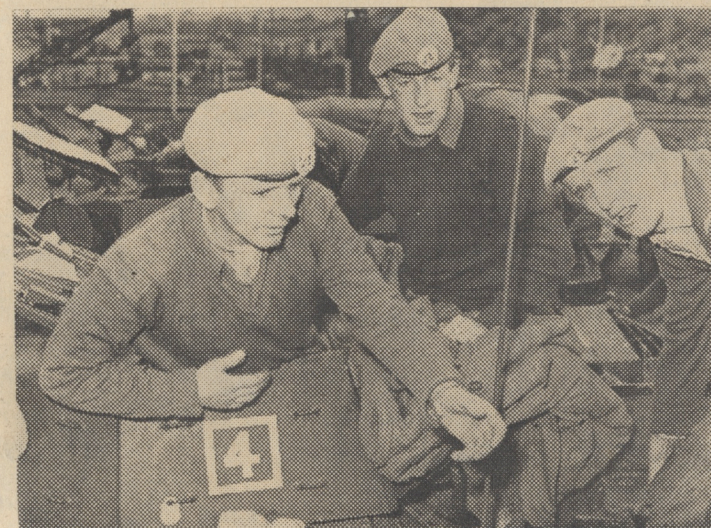

Well-versed in the art of first-aid is the Non charge of the Medical Centre of the Royal Green Jackets at Lemidhia Camp. Sgt George French, from Tyneside, has served that appointment with the battalion for six years and has served in Malaya, Borneo, Berlin, Tidworth and now Cyprus. He is seen doing vital stocks of bandages, etc, in the battalion medical centre.

4th/7th Royal Dragoon Guards Visits IRCON

BETTER SAFE.....

Twenty-nine FINCON cross-country cars, motorcycles and trucks participated in a traffic contest which was held on Sunday, 11 Feb 1968 in the Kykko area. Wonderful weather and smooth working of the organizing machinery guaranteed the success of the contest. The tasks one had to pass in the contest involved familiarity with traffic rules, map reading, knowledge of UN operations, mastery of the technical details of motor vehicles, driving skill and the giving of first aid. Most of the contestants found this kind of activity most rewarding and necessary both for professionals and amateurs. Photograph (above) shows one of the checkpoints where written answers to difficult questions had to be handed in.

..... THAN SORRY

Safe driving — defensive driving and road safety exercises as the one carried out by FINCON recently (see top photograph) can prevent such accidents as illustrated in the above photograph.

ROAD SAFETY CORNER

A frequent cause of road accidents is a failure to brake and to come to a halt in an emergency.

This often stems from a lack of knowledge of the timings and distances involved in halting a vehicle on the move. These are made up of:-

Reaction distance — distance covered by the driver while he reacts to the situation. Braking distance. Overall stopping distance.

Given ideal circumstances — a good driver, a vehicle in perfect condition and a first-class road surface — the facts are:-

Vehicle speeds	20 mph	30 mph	40 mph	50 mph	60 mph
Reaction distance	20	30	40	50	60
Braking distance	20	45	80	125	180
Overall stopping distance	40	75	120	175	240

UN CAMBODIA - THAILAND MISSION IS TERMINATED

UN Secretary-General, U Thant, has reported to the UN Security Council on the termination of the mission of Ambassador Herbert De Ribbing as his Special Representative in Cambodia and Thailand.

Mr De Ribbing was initially appointed in August 1966 for a six-month period to seek ways of reducing tension between the two Governments. His assignment was subsequently extended for further six-month periods — the last ending on the 15th of February. In the course of consultations, Thailand agreed to a further extension of the De Ribbing mission, but Cambodia did not, and in the absence of agreement by the parties, the Secretary-General has notified the two Governments of the termination of the mission.

In expressing his gratitude for the cooperation extended to Ambassador De Ribbing, U Thant expressed the hope that there would be no aggravation of the situation between Cambodia and Thailand in the months ahead and that the two Governments would continue to act with the necessary restraint in a region already beset by grave tensions.

455 Nuclear Reactors Now In Operation World Wide

THE International Atomic Energy Agency—an inter-governmental agency related to the United Nations — reports that a total of 455 nuclear reactors will be in operation among its Member States this year.

Of this total, 94 will be in power stations and will generate over 14,000 megawatts of electricity.

The others in operation or under construction by January 1968 are research reactors and are situated in 48 countries.

The survey conducted by the Atomic Energy Agency indicates that by 1974 there will be 242 power reactors in operation with a total generating capacity of more than 100,000 megawatts. By that year, nuclear energy will be in use in 19 countries in comparison with 15 in 1968 and 5 in 1960.

STOP PRESS

SOUTH WEST AFRICANS

current debate on the question, Ambassador Shahi of Pakistan, head of the UN Council for South West Africa, emphasized that South Africa had no rights in South West Africa. The so-called "Terrorism Act", he added, was a mockery of justice, with its presumption of guilt, its retroactivity extended five years prior to the enactment, and its sweeping and vague provisions. The Council headed by Mr Shahi was set up by the UN General Assembly to take over the administration of South West Africa; South Africa however, has remained adamantly opposed to this move.

Ambassador Arthur Goldberg of the United States urged that the UN and its individual members continue their representations in Pretoria, that a special UN representative be sent there, and that South Africa be requested to allow the International Red Cross full access to the South West Africans held under the "Terrorism Act".

For the Soviet Union, Ambassador Morozov declared that the racist authorities of Pretoria had defied the United Nations with the support of western imperialism — notably the US, Great Britain, and West Germany. These forces, he said, wished to keep the southern part of Africa as a bastion against national liberation movements — but that the USSR would continue to support the latter, and any Council action to that end.
