World Unemployment Explosive Issue

Mr Robert MacNamara, the President of the World Bank, warned that one in five men in the poor nations of the world had no work and the situation was getting worse.

Mr MacNamara was speaking to the Economic and Social Council of the UN recently in New York. He went on to say that a catastrophe would occur if the massive unemployment problem was not met. He said it was not a problem that would take care of itself. It would explode into catastrophic social and political turbulence.

Excessive Population Growth

The excessive population growth said Mr MacNamara was the main obstacle to the economic progress in the underdeveloped world. Even extensive birth control programs, he said, could not affect the problem much before the end of the century.

Expanding on the subject, Mr MacNamara said that the crisis was compounded by the flow of populations into the cities. Turning to possible remedies he said the underdeveloped nations should emphasise agricultural developments and be cautious about plunging into expensive industrial products that were not competitive on the world markets. They must avoid protecting and promoting inefficient industries at the cost of industrial advance, and the rich nations, he said, should remove import barriers against products which less developed countries could supply effectively.

CANADIAN GENERAL SEES FORCE COMMANDER

Lieutenant General A.E. Martola, UNFICYP Commander, welcomes Lieutenant General G.A. Turcot on his recent visit to the UN Forces in Cyprus.

Gen. Turcot is Commander of the Mobile Command, Canadian Armed Forces.

UN Military Have Non-Violent Role

Addressing the Navy League of the USA in New York, the UN Secretary-General U Thant said that members of the United Nations were too often more occupied with making nationalism safe or with saving themselves from the predictable results of their own policies rather than pressing onto that international order and degree of mutual confidence which alone could remove the threat of war.

The Secretary-General said it was true, that some of the means provided by the Charter had not worked out as envisaged. In particular, he noted the development of nuclear weapons and the split between post war major powers, which had vitiated the idea that the Security Council, with the great powers in total agreement, would keep the peace of the world

FAREWELL PRESENTATION

The forthcoming departure of six officers of the staff of HQ UNFICYP was the occasion for a presentation to each of them of a tankard by the Chief of Staff, Brig-Gen E. M.D. Leslie.

The tankards were subscribed to by all officers of the mess. This is a new custom introduced by Lt Col Walter Dabros, the Mess President, and looks like being a successful venture.

ETT LEENDE FÖR LOTTORNA Gott samarbete på P 10

En flyglotta till vänster om stabschefen, mj Björn Runberg, och en armelotta till höger. Kvinnan på chefsskrivbordet hör ju till gamla goda sekreterarhistorier, och två på en gång förlänger tydligen leendet till det dubbla.

Utbildningen på P 10 är till stor del vår bakgrund, och P 10 kommer de flesta av oss att återvända till, innan den här bataljonen läggs till handlingarna.

Två som minns oss från inryckningen är flyglottan, fru Eva Nihlén, och armelottan, fru Karin Molin. Ett bevis på det är de två lottarepresentanter de förärat bataljonen och i första hand stabschefen med.

Någon skulle få äran att ha sällskap av trästatyetterna på sitt skrivbord och de två damerna tyckte att mj Björn Runberg var den de mindes bäst av hela samlingen.

För vänlighet och trevligt uppträdande från hela bataljonens sida, heter det i hälsningen som bifogades lottavbildningarna. Kan leendet på bilden männe ha spelat in?

Fruarna Nihlén och Molin bistod oss bl.a. med råd och dåd vid blankettskrivning och annat småpyssel som vi ibland stod helt handfallna inför lite till mans.

Signalistfåglar borta Två av sju återfunna

Sju undulater försvann ur sin bur vid Carl Gustaf Camp en natt under det senaste veckoslutet. Fåglarna tillhör signalisterna på campen. De var sammanlagt 24 stycken före flykten. Två har infångats, men fem fattas fortfarande.

Om ett brott är begånget vet man inte, men krp Anders Niiä, som tillsammans med men Kjell Olsson i första hand sköter undulafly.

Sommaren 1968 köptes fyra fåglar in till 69:ans barack av signalisterna på bat 40 C. De och deras avkomma har gått i arv från bataljonen till bataljon. Förutom de nämnda 24 finns ett antal ungar i holkarna.

650 mils per vecka kostar fågelmaten plus "bachsis"-sallad från köksavfallet. Den kostnaden delar 16 man upp emellan sig.

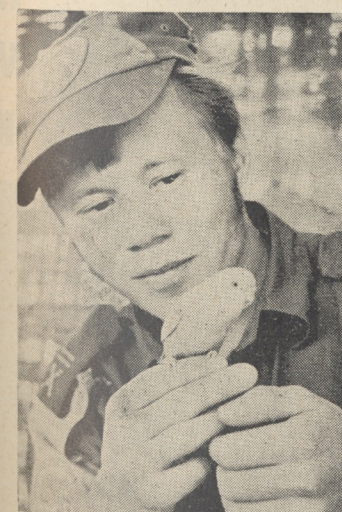

Två fågelfarmer till finns det veterligen på CGC. Den ena står på offmässens gård med bortåt 20-talet fåglar och den andra ägs av de fyra kanadensiska signalisterna på campen och innehåller tre eller fyra fåglar skänkta av de svenska signalisterna.

Kanadensarna svarar som bekant för "printer"-trafiken till och från campen.

"STABSCHEFEN" ÅTER PÅ FRI FOT

"Stabschefen" har släppts och är åter på fri fot i valfri färgomgivning.

Som vi kunde meddela på denna sida för två nummer sedan hade zonchefen övertagit ägandeskapet av "Stabschefen" Kameleont efter förra stabschefen. Den färgstarke upptäckte emellertid att den mänskliga färguppfattningen skar sig mot hans och släppts på egen begäran.

Mässuppassaren Göran Andersson demonstrerar sin förtvivlan över "kackornas" frammarsch. Fv Bo Wildroos (t.h.) är beredd på vad som helst.

HELVETESMASKIN STOPPADE ANFALLANDE KACKERLACKOR

Den första riktiga blixutryckningen fick en av bataljonens starkaste enheter, Stinky-gruppen, göra i fredags kväll. Bataljonen hade larmats om att en spaningspatrull kackerlackor hade siktats och redan hunnit ta sig in på off-mässen.

Stinky-gruppen, bestående av fyra Bo Wildroos och "helvetes-maskinen", var på platsen några minuter efter det att larmet gått. Snabbt evakuerades mässpersonal och förnödenheter från mässen, Stinky drog igång maskinhelvetet. Luften vibrerade av dån och fylldes av illaluktande kackerlackstridsmedel.

I några snabba spjutattacker rakt framifrån och ett par välkamouflerade flankattacker gjordes processen kort med kackorna, som trots kämpaanda och heroiska insatser tvingades till underkastelse och dukade under.

En förtvivlad mässuppassare åtminstone agerade han förtvivlad på fotografens, fu Tommy Löfs- tedts, uppmaning, det var men Göran Andersson. Men allt löste sig och nästa morgon kunde alla evakuerade ting återbördas till ordningen.

DANMARK I SIGTE

■ Nogle er ude at gøre de sidste indkøb. Der ses på skind og antikviteter.

■ Det er med at få en mængde vitaminer, inden vi kommer hjem.

■ Ja, aviserne studeres daglig under annoncerne, mange ser efter et nyt job.

Tiden nærmer sig

Dette bliver et hold XII problem, sådan lyder det mange steder ved DANCON i denne tid og fremefter. Nu er dette halve år færdigt og andre har en oplevelse af se frem til, måske ikke så varm, men alligevel bedre end hjemme i sneen og regnen.

Hold XI har været en oplevelse for de fleste, man har set meget rundt omkring på øen og udenfor. Vi har fulgt det daglige liv på øen, set hvorledes de forskellige folk der er her, enten tyrkere eller grækere lever i den daglige tilværelse, set og prøvet deres mad. Mange vil huske en glad aften på de forskellige spisesteder.

Et kapitel for sig er SLAM-MET, som det så populært er døbt af en eller anden UN-soldat. Mange vil huske det som et sted, hvor vi morede os, måske mistede nogen pund, nogle lettere end andre. En enkelt har truffet sin udkårne der og har bragt denne til Danmark. Ja, hvad er der ikke sket i denne gade gennem tiden, UHA.

NYT

■ De sidste billeder skal tages, man ser det måske aldrig mere. Sådanne oplevelser vil vi mindes.

BEWARE OF BUNG ANTIQUITIES!

• If you are interested in antiquities there are many possibilities for finding them in Cyprus. But you must know that Cypriot antiquities belong to the Cyprus museum, and you must take them there — before they are allowed to keep them.

• For more than one pound you can get a permit to dig and to take Cypriot antiquities to your country — unless it is a very rare item.

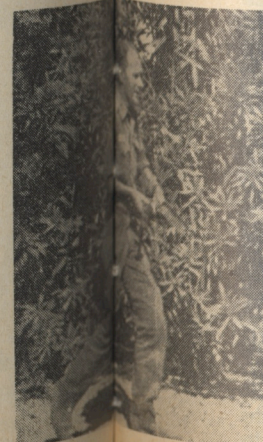

• Even if you have obtained a permit, as an archaeologist or your service in Cyprus, you are not allowed to take it to your home without permission from the museum.

• What then is an antique? It is an object which is earlier than the 17th century.

Alt dette snart forbi. Fra den 13. og 14. uge frem skal vi afløses af de samme glæder og oplevelser. Men vi skal hjem til Danmark, til mors frikadeller og de danske damer. Dette er det sidste af det hele.

Cypern er et minde, som vi alle vil tænke tilbage på, nogen mere end andre.

DET INDHEGNEDE VÅBENKAMMER

OG SÅ ET ANDET SPØRGSMÅL ... Antikviteter!

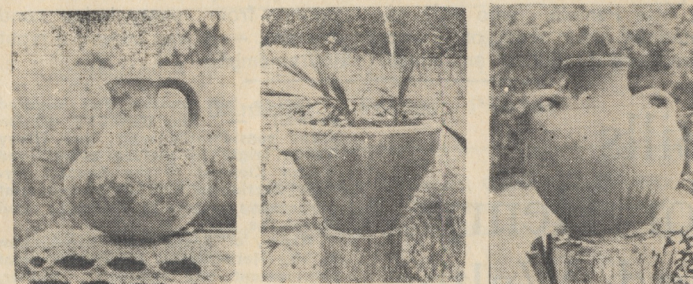

Et spørgsmål, som er ved at blive aktuelt er antikviteter. Hvis d'herre herover graver efter antikviteter og finder nogen, skal de afleveres til museet. Med mindre de har licens?

Licenskortet udstedes på museet i Nicosia for mindre end eet pund. Det giver adgang til at grave efter og udføre antikviteter når man rejser hjem - med mindre det, man finder eller på anden måde er kommet i besiddelse af, viser sig at være en meget sjælden kunstskat.

Skulle der være en og anden, der har fået en gammel ting som gave, skulle man tro, at det var myndighederne uvedkommene. Men end ikke gaver må hjemføres uden licens.

Og i lufthavnen vil der blive foretaget stikprøver fra de lokale myndigheders side, så vil man være helt sikker på at få sine "potteskår" med hjem, bør man skaffe sig licens.

En antikvitet er en ting fra før 1700.

HALLOWEEN

Halloween in the UNFICYP Officers Mess, on Friday night 31st October 1969, was made an occasion of much merriment.

This particularly British occasion was attended by officers and guests of all the contingents in UNFICYP.

Much credit must be given to Major John Bedford-Davies and his wife Pamela, who ably assisted by their team of interior decorators produced an atmosphere, in which the witches of Shakespear's Macbeth would have revelled.

The mess rooms were decorated liberally with witches floating menacingly on their brooms, nocturnal animals sought blood and vengeance. Death lay in a grave by the dance floor, ghosts hovered in dark corners and large red eyed spiders threatened to pounce from every ledge and crevasse. — It was indeed a night to remember!

Oh no, not another two hundred pounds! — The UNFICYP mission draws considerable costs, and Henry Kanon (right in picture below) and Walter Klement of the General Services' Section of UNFICYP Secretariat are among those to receive and check the bills.

Henry, of Sneek near Amsterdam in The Netherlands, deals with local procurement and shipping. Walter, who comes from Vienna in Austria, carries out customs clearance and transport.

— by force if necessary.

Non violent role

U Thant went on to say that the UN had improvised a new mechanism which had come to be called 'peacekeeping' to meet the challenges of the past twenty four years. It had pioneered the use of military personnel in a non-violent role relying on the moral authority of the world organisation and voluntary cooperation of the parties to a conflict.

Defiance of Council Decisions

Continuing his observations, U Thant said that he felt there was a significant trend in the Security Council toward striving for a consensus and trying to avoid public displays of complete disagreement and deadlock, but he warned that a disturbing tendency toward defiance of even unanimous decisions of the Council was eroding its authority.

He went on to outline what could be done to improve the effectiveness of the UN. He declared that a modification of the concept of national sovereignty in harmony with intellectual and technological realities of our time would do much to improve the situation.

The role of youth

I have confidence, said U Thant, that the new internationalism of the young and the reassertion of the spirit of internationalism, which inspired the Charter, will help us to make this crucial step

Austria Contributes To UNFICYP

The Permanent Representative of Austria to the United Nations, Heinrich Haymerle, a letter dated 23 October informs the Secretary-General, U Thant, that the Austrian Government has decided to make a further voluntary contribution in the amount of $80,000 — towards meeting the costs incurred by the United Nations Peace-Keeping Force in Cyprus during the period of 16 June 1969 to 15 December 1969.

● Captain Svend Frandsen

From Silkeborg to Nicosia

A new face at UNFICYP Headquarters is that of Captain Svend Frandsen of the Danish Army, who arrived last week in Nicosia to join the MPIO office as the new Force AMPIO (Assistant Military Public Information Officer).

In his civilian life he is a professional journalist in Jutland, western Denmark. Only a few days before his departure for Cyprus and UNFICYP he was still the busy Sub-Editor of the daily newspaper in the town of Silkeborg.

As the Force AMPIO Capt. Frandsen will also take part in the editing work of The Blue Beret, and as a new member of the team behind each week's new issue he is warmly welcomed by the Editor and the Staff of The Blue Beret.

Gen. Turcot Visits CanCon

The Commander of the Canadian Armed Forces' Mobile Command, Lieutenant-General G.A. Turcot, visited his troops in Cyprus last week.

An integral part of the command is the 2nd Battalion, The Black Watch (Royal Highland Regiment) of Canada, who over 500 strong arrived last month as the Canadian Contingent of UNFICYP.

"Keeping the peace in a foreign country, no matter the distance from home", General Turcot stated, "is a most essential task."

There are many trouble spots in the world today, and if Canadian soldiers can lend assistance in keeping the peace in even one, we can be justly proud of their ability".

General Turcot, who served with distinction in Sicily, Italy and Northwest Europe during World War II, was making his first visit to Cyprus.

"My parish is a large one", he said, "and my coming to Cyprus has been a particularly gratifying experience".

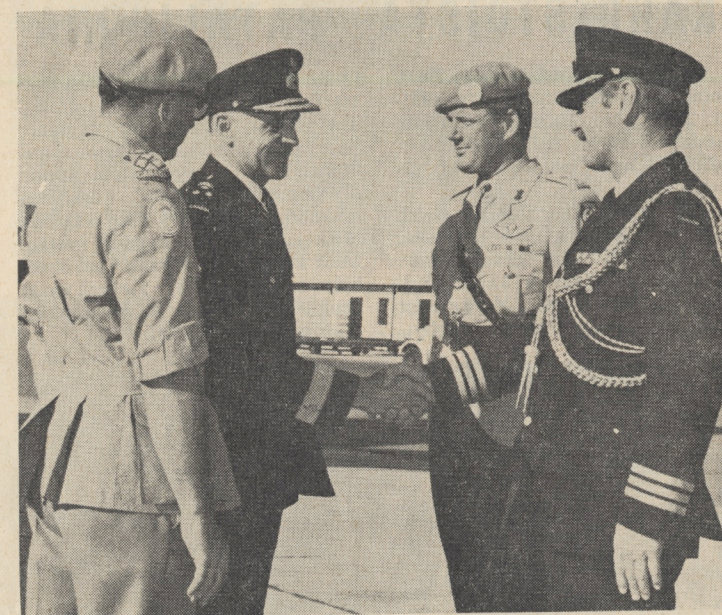

Corporal Bill Hexter, 2RHC, briefs general Turcot on the role of Observation Post Pacquin's Hill.

The Competition spirit is much in evidence these days in IrCon with all sports being actively engaged in.

The Group League (Soccer) is now well under way, resulting in a number of very close contests.

Pte Flanagan (A Coy) cracked in two goals in the opening ten (10) mins, followed by another from Pte Doyle (A Coy) in the 12th min.

Cpl Clarke (HQ Coy) made it 4-0 midway through the second half.

Xeros reduced the arrears with a penalty and but for some poor finishing on the part of their forwards would have scored again.

The issue was put beyond all doubt 10 mins from time when Pte O'Neill (S. & T.) scored a fine goal to make the 13 Inf Gp convincing 5-1 winners.

In the light of all these sporting activities it was most appropriate that last week also IrCon played host at Xeros Camp to the Intercontingent Sports Officers Conference.

 Same Period Last Year: 372
 Main Cause Of Accidents This Week:
 IMPROPER PASSING.

It must be realized that overtaking is one of the most hazardous manoeuvres related to vehicle operation, particularly when the rules of passing are not applied.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that, as a driver, you have a personal responsibility to know and obey, traffic laws and the rules of the road. So once again the established rules governing 'overtaking' are republished for your observance.

WHEN TO PASS: When conditions are favourable and your speed is considerably higher than that of the vehicle to be passed.

Only on the right, except when the vehicle ahead has signalled a right turn and there is sufficient space to pass on the left.

SEQUENCE: Move to the centre and check road to ensure it is clear far enough ahead. Ensure no vehicle intends to pass you.

Sound horn. Ensure drivers ahead and behind know your intentions. Signal, speed up, and pass.

Signal and return to original lane when the passed vehicle is reflected in your rear view mirror.

NO PASSING: When you have to exceed the speed limit or attain a speed too fast for road conditions.

When fog or rain restricts visibility.

When approaching pedestrian crossings, bends, hills, bridges and where the road narrows.

When there is a solid white line.

He went on to suggest that the UN and youth had a lot to learn from each other. He said that youth always had a tendency to be against the establishment and the UN could easily seem to be a super-establishment, but he suggested that a deeper understanding of the aims of the UN and its many progressive achievements might well lead youth to realise that the UN stood for many things for which they were striving.
