Mission's priorities – (2018-2019)

The mandate of the United Nations Organization Stabilization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUSCO) was established by the Security Council in its resolution 1925 (2010). The most recent extension of the mandate was authorized by the Council in its resolution 2409 (2018), by which the Council extended the mandate until 31 March 2019. Following a September 2017 Strategic Review of MONUSCO (S/2017/826), the Secretary-General recommended that MONUSCO streamline its activities around two key priorities, while leveraging the presence of various partners in areas that fall outside of its core areas of responsibility. The Council welcomed this approach in a 31 October 2017 statement. MONUSCO's priorities are therefore structured around the support to the political process (including support to the 31 December 2016 political agreement), towards the holding of elections; and support to the protection of civilians and human rights.

- 64,000 L of fuel made available to the CENI
- 134 experts recruited and deployed to provide technical advisory support and 219 experts for logistical support to CENI at central and branch level in the provinces and territories.
- 74 various radio programs carried out by Radio OKAPI to inform and sensitize the population on the revision of the electoral register
- 34 capacity building sessions have been held for 1530 civil society actors to support their engagement with decision-makers and the local population on democratic governance, and 93 influence strategies for up to 14425 civil society actors have been supported to mobilize for a peaceful electoral process mainly in urban areas of concern.
- Numerous activities to support the mobilization of women for their participation in the revision of the electoral roll
- Good offices of the SRSB between political actors to pacify the electoral process and facilitate the implementation of the Political Agreement.
- 40, 024 808 million voters registered by CENI (after clearance by the electoral register), of which 51% are women.

Political update:

Timeline: On 31 December 2016, mediation efforts led by the Conférence épiscopale nationale du Congo (CENCO) culminated in a political agreement intended to govern the transitional period until the holding of elections.

Following the death of Etienne Tshisekedi on 1 February 2017, the Rassemblement embarked on an internal restructuring process. On 7 April, President Kabila appointed Bruno Tshibala, a member of a dissident faction of the Rassemblement, Prime Minister. On 27 April, 18 of the 32 signatories of the Agreement signed amended Special Arrangements for its implementation.

- On 9 May, Bruno Tshibala appointed a 59 member Government.
- On 22 July, Joseph Olenghankoy, the leader of the dissident Rassemblement, was appointed President of the CNSA.
- Union pour la Nation Congolaise (UNC) leader, Vital Kamerhe, and the Coordinator of the Front pour le respect de la Constitution (FRC), Eve Bazaïba, refused to take up their seats as Vice-President in the CNSA citing irregularities in its establishment.

Main provisions of the 31 December Agreement

- President Kabila will not seek a third term.
- The signatories will neither undertake nor support initiatives to amend the Constitution.

- The Rassemblement des forces politiques et sociales acquises au changement, Opposition Platform is to designate the new Prime Minister.
- The President of the Conseil des Sages within the Rassemblement is to lead the oversight mechanism Conseil national de suivi de l'Accord (CNSA).
- Parties that so desire may replace their representatives in the Commission Électorale Nationale Indépendante (CENI).
- Presidential, national and provincial legislative elections are to be held by December 2017, while local elections are to be organized in 2018, unless the Transitional Government, the CNSA and the CENI agree otherwise.
- A commission of senior magistrates is to examine the issue of political and opinion Prisoners and political exiles, while the cases of Moïse Katumbi, JC Muyambo and Diomi Dongala, will be dealt with through the good offices of the CENCO.
- Political prisoners are to be released; equal access to state media is to be granted and the duplication of opposition parties is to be reversed.

Confidence building measures:

Since the signing of the 31 December Agreement:

- 64 political prisoners have been released, including 25 members of civil society organizations and 28 members of opposition parties.
- However, increased number of people arrested for their political opinion and at least 139 of them remain in detention.
- 25 political prisoners were released during the period under review + 10 additional prisoners covered by a 2014 amnesty. Those ordered released include one of the emblematic cases included on the list presented by the Rassemblement at the signing of the 31 December Agreement, Gustave Bagayamukwe arrested on charges of insurrection in South Kivu in February 2013.
- 90 political prisoners remain in detention. The Government has agreed to discuss these cases with MONUSCO and have a regular information exchange. The Government has also agreed to review the emblematic case of opposition leader Jean-Claude Muyambo, (President, SCODE, Solidarité congolaise pour la démocratie et le développement), whose prison sentence was extended from 26 months to five years.
- Selected opposition-aligned media outlets authorized to broadcast. However, more progress is required to achieve equal access to public media for all political parties.
- While the registration of a duplicate of the Mouvement de Libération du Congo (MLC) has been suspended, no action has been taken to annul the registration of other opposition party duplicates.
- Regarding the emblematic cases of opposition prisoners or exiles, Roger Lumbala, an opposition figure formerly associated with the Rassemblement congolais pour la démocratie – nationale (RCD/N) was authorized to return to the DRC in January 2017. Moïse Moni Della, president of opposition party Conservateurs de la nature et démocrates (CONADE) and close collaborator of former Katanga Governor Moïse Katumbi, was released under provisional bail in January 2017.

- The President of the opposition party Démocratie Chrétienne and leader of Alliance pour la Majorité Populaire Présidentielle (AMPP), Eugene Diomi Dongala, continues to serve a sentence of ten years imprisonment allegedly for the rape of two minors in 2014.
- Antipas Mbusa Nyamwisi, former leader of the RCD-KML party and former Minister of Foreign Affairs, as well as Floribert Anzuluni, the leader of the Filimbi youth movement, were both authorized to return to the DRC but chose to remain in exile, citing security concerns.
- No tangible progress has been achieved regarding the cases of aspiring Presidential candidate Moïse Katumbi.

✓ WHERE DO WE STAND (Sept. 2018):

- President Kabila respected the Constitution and did not seek a 3rd term. The ruling Majority has designated Emmanuel Shadari Ramazani, Chairman of PPRD as the candidate of the Majority (Front commun pour le Congo FCC) for the 23rd December election.
- 04 presidential candidates were invalidated (out of 25) by the Independent Electoral Commission (CENI) and the Constitutional Court, including the former Vice-President Jean-Pierre BEMBA (MLC), the former Prime Minister Adolphe MUZITO (PALU) and the former Katanga Governor Moïse KATUMBI (ENSEMBLE Platform).
- 01 Female presidential candidate out of 21.
- The CENI published the provisional voters list as planned on Sept. 19th.
- The democratic space remains restricted, authorizations for public demonstrations are issued on selective ground.
- Equal access to public Media remains restricted (mainly to the Opposition).
- Most of media entities associated with the Opposition across the DRC remain closed, with the exception of some operating in Kinshasa: no progress or indications of improvement.
- Still, there is no consensus on the voting machine.
- The Opposition struggles to agree on a joint candidate/program.
- The electoral calendar seems rather well respected, despite all.
- Even though the election campaign has not started yet, there is like a precampaign mood in almost all media: Opposition and Majority alike.
- The RTNC (national Network) remains the voice of the Majority and the stronghold media of the ruling party and its allies, with nearly no space for the Opposition.

- o A new element is worth noting: the “ostracism” against Radio Okapi. In August, at different opportunities, it was noticed a tendency to boycott the UN Radio by not only government authorities but also by the CENI. Radio Okapi's reporters were forgotten or banned to attend official press conferences.
